Installation Requirements

- Antenna needs to have clear line of sight to the sky.
- Shielded Category 5 (or above) cabling should be used for all wired Ethernet connections and should be grounded through the AC ground of the PoE.

We recommend that you protect your networks from the most brutal environments and devastating ESD attacks with industrial-grade shielded Ethernet cable from Ubiquiti Networks. For more details, visit www.ubnt.com/toughcable
Hardware Overview

Note: Secondary Ethernet Port is capable of 24V Power over Ethernet output which can provide power to a secondary device. It can be enabled using the AirOS interface.
LEDs

Power  The Power LED will light steady green when the Rocket is connected to a power source.

Primary Ethernet  The first Ethernet LED will light steady green when an active Ethernet connection is made to the Primary Ethernet Port and flash when there is activity.

Secondary Ethernet  The second Ethernet LED will light steady green when an active Ethernet connection is made to the Secondary Ethernet Port. The Secondary Ethernet Port is included only on the Rocket M2/M5 GPS.

GPS/Signal  The GPS and Signal LEDs display the GPS signal strength. See the GPS/Signal LED Values chart on page 6.
Mounting the Rocket M GPS

Dish Antenna

1. Connect the GPS Patch Antenna to the center SMA connector on the Rocket.
2. Mount the magnetic GPS Patch Antenna to the dish.

Recommended Placement of GPS Patch Antenna on Dish Antenna

AirOS Confirmation

Verify connectivity in the AirOS interface.

1. Make sure that your host machine is connected via Ethernet to the Rocket.

2. Configure the Ethernet adapter on your host system with a static IP address on the 192.168.1.x subnet.

3. Launch your Web browser and type http://192.168.1.20 in the address field and press enter (PC) or return (Mac).

4. The login screen will appear. Enter ubnt in the Username and Password fields and click Login.
5. On the Main tab you can verify the GPS Signal Quality. Click on the GPS Details tab under Monitor to view the Satellite and Signal details.

AirSync Capabilities

Many situations require the use of multiple AirMax M series devices on the same tower. For example, the addition of an AirMax basestation on an existing tower to service a new area or increase the capacity of an existing network by using multiple basestations with narrow coverage areas instead of one basestation with a wide coverage area.

If the devices are using the same RF-band (e.g. 5 GHz or 2.4 GHz), even if they are configured on separate frequencies, the devices would interfere with each other. Additionally some RF bands like 900 MHz and 3.65 GHz have only 1 20 MHz channel requiring all the basestations to use the same frequency. This interference will cause Receive (Rx) errors on the basestation when it receives packets from associated stations that are typically miles away.
With AirSync, the basestations make use of a common clock source using the built-in GPS receiver. One device is configured as the synchronization master and the others are configured in Slave Mode and provided with the MAC Address of the Master.

Once this is done, the Master and Slave devices synchronize their transmit and receive cycles so that they transmit at the same time and receive at the same time. This resolves the interference issues.

Enabling Master/Slave Mode

1. Launch your web browser and login to the AirOS interface (see page 6 for login details).
2. Go to the Ubiquiti tab.
3. Select the appropriate mode: Master Mode should be selected on your master device and Slave Mode should be selected on all of your slave devices with the MAC address of the Master in the Sync Master field.
4. Click Change to save your selection.
